

Reflection

Cybercrime Awareness Case Study & Prevention Guide

During my process of completing Task 3, in which I had to write a case study on “UPI Payment Fraud (2025),” I came to realize how cybercrimes are changing and affecting common users. What shocked me the most is how common users can be tricked with such simple techniques of sending them links or messages or asking them for OTP. Despite being aware of these things, common users are becoming victims of such crimes due to fear and lack of attention. During this task, I realized how cyber fraud is not only a technical issue but also involves human behavior. In this case, cyber attackers are using the trust of common users to attack them. As a student of cyber security, I came to realize how important it is to be attentive during online transactions. One of the things I am going to change in my behavior is to always be attentive during online payments and refrain from sharing OTP or clicking on links, despite how urgent it may seem. This task helped me realize how being attentive and thinking before doing something is extremely important.